PUNISHMENT OF GUERRILLAS —The general orders respecting guerrillas are very pointed. We quote some of them

Gen Dix advice is to "shoot them on the spot"

"Gen Blunt says - Give them no quarter"

Gen [illegible] says — Shoot them when found"

Gen Halleck's orders are—"Let them be tried immediately by a drum head Court, and punished

OVERLAND EMIGRATION TO CARIBOO AND SALMON RIVER —A Canada paper has letters from a party of 200 miners who left the Provinces some time ago for British Columbia by the Red River route At the date of the letters they had reached Fort Garry, and were proposing [illegible] give the mines on the [illegible] of the Rocky Mountains a trial, before crossing The letters mention the departure from Fort Garry of a large party of gold hunters from Minnesota bound to Salmon River, where the gold discoveries are reported to be very rich

FRIDAY MORNING AUGUST 22 1862

The National Tax Bill Law—Its collecting Provisions

The National Tax Bill went into operation on the first of the present month but the Collecting and Assessing officers will scarcely be able to enter upon their duties until the first of September Eastern papers furnish us with a synopsis of this law.

We suppose Oregon will comprise one Collection District, for which a Collector and Assessor have already been appointed by the President It is made the duty of each Assessor to subdivide his district into convenient assessment districts, for each of which subdivisions he is to appoint a resident assistant Assessor The Collector is allowed to "appoint as many deputies" as he may deem necessary, but he is to be held responsible for their acts and is to give bonds with five sureties for the faithful performance of his duties Besides these, inspectors of liquors are to be appointed whose duties we shall notice hereafter

It is made the duty of all persons or corporations liable to taxation under the act to make an exhibit of their property on the first of September, 1862, and on the first Monday of May each year thereafter The exhibit is to be made to the Assistant Assessor and that officer will give notification of the place where the return is to be made by public advertisement. The Assistant Assessor will also proceed through the district assigned to him and make personal examination of what property is to be taxed belonging to persons or corporations who may neglect to make these exhibits, and he will from this personal observation make up his own schedule This he will show to the owner of the property and demand of him his assent in writing

Owners of property who make false exhibits to the Assessor are subjected to a fine of $500 on conviction by the United States District Court. In all cases the Assessors are authorized to enter premises containing or being taxable property to make his assessments, and should the owner or owners not be present, notification of the assessment is to be left in writing.

There is one clause in the law which is very stringent. Owners of property who refuse or neglect to make the exhibit referred to above, or decline to make out such exhibit on the demand of the Assessor, are taxed an additional fifty per cent. on the value of their property Where the owner is absent from the State or district, the Assessor will make out the estimate, subject to appeals which may subsequently be made by the parties interested

The Assessor for each collection district will notify the public by advertisement where and when the lists of valuations may be seen, and the lists are to remain open to scrutiny fifteen days. He also will give the same notice of when and where appeals will be heard, and will determine all such appeals "in a summary manner, according to law" All appeals must be made in writing, and no valuation can be increased under five days' notice in writing to the party interested

The following is the pay which will be received by our inland revenue officers The district Assessor will receive $3 a day while making his necessary arrangements, and $5 a day while hearing appeals or making out the valuation lists. In the shape of commissions he is to receive $1 for every 100 taxable persons he has on his lists. The assistant Assessors are to receive $3 a day while actually employed, and also will get $1 for every 100 persons on his list. The cost of stationery and other reasonable expenses to be paid by the Government On this Coast, however "owing to the great expense of living, the rate of remuneration is left entirely to the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury

The Collectors are required to give ten day's notice of when and where the taxes are to be paid to them and all persons who refuse to hand over their just proportion of the expenses of the Government, as provided by the law, are to have their tax increased ten per cent., and the fact is to be advertised Personal demand is then to be made for the money and if the owner of the property still remains obdurate, the Collector will proceed to obtain it "by distraint and sale of the goods chattels and effects" of the delinquent Said goods, chattels and effects will be advertised for 20 days and then sold Where the property is not divisible, the whole of it is to be sold and after the taxes have been taken out of the proceeds, the balance is to be handed over to the defendant The Collectors are allowed four per cent on every one hundred thousand dollars they collect and two per cent on all above that amount provided that in no event shall their salaries exceed $10 000 per annum

In the main these are the features of the tax bill They are easily understood and Secessionists cannot evade them It may be determined not to fight against his own people," but the law will at least compel him to pay his fair proportion of the expenses of those who are not so squeamish on the subject An enormous revenue will be raised—amply sufficient to sustain the credit of the Government

THE REBELS DRIVEN OUT OF ARIZONA —We are in receipt of a copy of a general order issued by Gen Wright announcing that the rebel force from Texas has been driven out from Arizona We have already stated that the rebels who were marauding about New Mexico, were making tracks for Texas with all possible haste—the Mexicans and Apaches pursuing and killing the men and robbing them of stock and other property Justice though slow has overtaken the miscreants Jim Lane with a force from Kansas, will soon be after the gang, who are infesting the Indian Territory

HEAD QUARTERS, DEPT OF THE PACIFIC, }
SAN FRANCISCO Cal, Aug 11 1862 }

GENERAL ORDERS, No 0 The General commanding the Department has the pleasure of announcing that our Flag waves in triumph over the whole of Arizona On the 21st of June Brigadier General Carleton commanding the column from California detached from Tucson a strong reconnoitring force under command of Lieut Col E E Eyre 1st Cavalry, C V The command, after a hard march reached the Rio Grande on the 4th of July and raised our National colors over Fort Thorn all the rebels having fled at the approach of our troops

To Lieut Col Eyre and the officers and men of the First Cavalry the highest praise is awarded, they had the honor of raising the Stars and Stripes over the last stronghold of the rebels on this side of the Rio Grande. By order of THE COMMANDING GENERAL WRIGHT

R C DRUM, Assistant Adjutant General

WHAT THE REBELS THINK OF MCCLELLAN'S POSITION.—The Richmond Examiner of July 7th received here, discoursing on General McClellan's position, says We believe all that was known in this city yesterday, outside of the several circles, was, that the enemy had taken a strong position, with one of his flanks resting on the river about Berkley, completely under cover of his gunboats, and his extreme right reaching to Herring creek, where his position is defended by an almost impassible morass It is supposed the enemy would have been attacked yesterday, but there had been no fighting up to last accounts

It is not to be supposed the enemy has selected these positions as the scene of his last great stand without good reasons The first and most apparent of them is that Westover Landing is perhaps the very best ground on the James river the stream for miles up and down being broad and deep affords an excellent sea room and anchorage for his gunboats and transports, but this is by no means the only advantage of the position

On the west of Berkley are impassable ravines running from near the Charles City road to the James river, making a successful attack from that quarter next to impossible With in a quarter of a mile from where these ravines begin Herring river creek crosses the Charles City road

The whole course of this creek is one impassable morass, while along its northern and eastern banks extend the hights of Evlington The enemy's position presents one pregnable point—the piece of level country northwest of west, lying between the head of the ravines and the point where Herring creek crosses the Charles City road.

Already this entrance to his stronghold is within range of his gunboats and his siege guns, planted on the Evlington hills Whilst our ammunition and stores must be wagoned a distance of nearly thirty miles his steamers and transports are running up to the very door of his tent

Ten days ago, when McClellan beleaguered Richmond, with the exception of about five miles of the Chickahominy low ground, he occupied the most barren, and at the same time worst watered and most unhealthy region of the coast of Virginia, with the Seven Pines as their headquarters

The very pick and flower of the Northern army was concentrated, and here for weeks their vigor and numbers melted away under the influence of miasm, bad water, and a Southern sun, but by his hasty trip through White Oak Swamp, McClellan has emerged with thinned ranks into a more genial clime

THE INSURRECTIONARY STATES —The President, in accordance with the provisions of the recent Act for the collection of direct taxes in the insurrectionary districts of the United States, has issued a proclamation declaring in what States and parts of States insurrection exists, namely, South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, North Carolina and Virginia, excepting from the last certain named western counties, those now being in insurrection and rebellion, and by reason thereof the civil authority of the United States is so obstructed that the provisions of the Act to provide increased revenue from imports to pay the interest on the public debt and for other purposes, approved August 5 1861 cannot be peaceably executed—therefore the taxes legally chargeable upon real estate under the Act last aforesaid lying within the States and parts of States as aforesaid, together with a penalty of fifty per centum of said taxes, shall be a lien upon the tracts or lots of the same severally charged till paid —Cor N Y Tribune, July 2d

NO LONGER "THE GORILLA PRESIDENT"—An Eastern correspondent says

There is one very noticeable feature in the Rebel Press, The papers which, in every issue used to call Abraham Lincoln an ape, a baboon, an imbecile, have utterly stopped it I have not seen a specimen of those pleasant Southern compliments for six months —The ability and integrity of our first Republican President have fairly conquered the respect of his enemies

The Assessor of San Francisco has just completed the military assessment roll of all persons liable to military duty in the city and county of San Francisco

NEW YORK August 11th In consequence of a strict order received to day Provost Marshal Kennedy prohibited passengers from going out in the California steamer, and she has been detained

NEW YORK Aug 12 —The report that pestilence is raging in Richmond is again asserted by a gentleman who left that city on the 1st of August He says the rebel army numbers 200 000 men who are in a fearful state of destitution The general headquarters and a large proportion of the army have been moved to the south side of the river, although the army is so large that the leaders find it impossible to bring more than a hundred thousand into the field at one time

A rumor is current that England has sent a special envoy to Washington to urge the President to take the initiative towards peace if he wishes to avoid offers of mediation

Garibaldi has issued a proclamation for volunteers to assemble in Sicily announcing that the time for action has come The destination of the expedition is unknown

From intelligence received at the War Department it has been ascertained that 30,000 Western troops of the new levy will be ready to go into the field immediately

FOR WASHINGTON —We heard that Lieut Merryman of the Revenue Service on Puget Sound, took passage on the last steamer from Victoria, for Washington City, in all probability to make report upon the actions of Victor Smith relative to the Custom House at Port Townsend Victor Smith, as soon as he learned that Lieut Merryman had left Port Townsend immediately started in pursuit with the steamer Shubrick, and will probably overtake the Lieutenant at San Francisco The U S Marshal has given up the chase and returned home

We understand Col W G T'Vault of Oregon, is about making all the necessary arrangements to commence the publication of a journal at Jacksonville with the material of the defunct Southern Oregon Gazette.

SOMETHING ABOUT DOGS.—What say our [illegible] authorities to the enactment of an ordinance taxing dogs. Similar laws exist in other towns and cities, and a large revenue is yearly derived from this source, besides freeing the place of an interminable lot of [illegible]ing, worthless dogs, which have and will annoy the city unless some such [illegible] [illegible]ing them is imposed. We believe there is not an owner of a really valuable dog in the city that would refuse to pay a tax of say $10. Now, suppose that [illegible] one hundred dogs of this kind in [illegible], which we presume there is, as there [illegible] five hundred of all kinds running [illegible], and they must be a worthless pack if [illegible] in five is not worth paying a tax of $10 per annum for the privilege of keeping it, [illegible] to this a revenue of just $1,000 per [illegible] could be added to help defray expenses. This sum would go far to establish a [illegible] thing much needed, or towards improvements of the streets, a thing still needed. We believe an ordinance of [illegible] would receive the sanction of a majority of our citizens and prove beneficial to the city in many respects.

[illegible] GARB."—Some innocent miner just returned from Salmon, en route [illegible]ancisco, takes exception to our ar[illegible] yesterday's paper relative to the [illegible]" seen upon our streets, imagines [illegible] all persons who wore rough [illegible] miners' garb. We have seen many individuals [illegible] smooth exterior but exceedingly [illegible], and it was that class we cautioned against, and not the honest [illegible] working miner who may have [illegible] a siege of hard toil and [illegible]. We do not wear fine clothes ourselves [illegible] the fact that we are not able, which [illegible] evidence to any one who [illegible] upon the matter, that we did [illegible] those who wear rough clothes, as [illegible] included on the list.

The Cultivation of Flax.

The Canadian Agricultural Review contains a lecture lately delivered at Sherbrooke, by Mr. P. McCuddin, from Cavan County, Ireland, who seems to be practically acquainted with the whole subject of cultivating and treating flax. As many of our farmers design to initiate the cultivation of flax this season, all useful information on the subject is of great importance to them. We have, therefore, condensed this lecture, leaving out the less important statements, to render it more general in all its applications.

Flax has long been known to thrive well in the United States and Canada, but by far the most valuable portion of it has been thrown away or allowed to rot on manure heaps, possibly owing to a want of knowledge respecting its real value and usefulness, or from a want of facilities to treat and prepare it at the proper season. The soil and climate of this country are admirably adapted to the growth of flax. From a commercial or a manufacturing point of view the advantages to be derived from the culture of flax appear to be very great. In the old country the proper cultivation of a moderate patch of land laid down in flax has enabled a family to live in comfort during future years, because the price of the article has been so high.

The following extract, taken from the prospectus of a company formed in Belfast, to encourage the growth of flax in East India, will show the great scarcity of that article, and the length they have gone to look for a very equivocal supply, at the very antipodes:

"The linen trade, at its seats of action in Leeds, Dundee and Belfast, and their manufacturing dependencies, has, for some time past, been suffering severely from the extreme scarcity of flax, and the inquiries instituted with the view of opening up extended sources of supply have forced on the minds of manufacturers that it is in vain to expect from the present sources the quantity of fiber necessary to meet the growing requirements of the trade."

Independent of this crop being the most remunerative, it enters into the best regulated system of rotation, a thing much to be desired by every practical farmer. Flax loves to luxuriate on a well drained clay subsoil, with rich surface soil properly pulverized. It yields the largest and best quality of fiber when it follows a crop of wheat or oats immediately out of lea, but may be sown with success on more worn ground. It has been found from experience that the proper time for sowing is from the first to the twelfth of May, a period very suitable for the sowing of clover and grass seeds, when those delicate seeds will have no difficulty in quickly germinating, or their growing process retarded by frost, when earlier sown; it is, therefore, considered the safest and best crop for laying down land with those essentially useful seeds. Clover has been properly styled the farmer's sheet anchor, and from the preparation that is needed for the due development of flax a heavy crop of clover is the general result. Those intending to grow flax will at once see that much depends on the condition of the land, and it is highly necessary, to insure a good crop, to have it perfectly free from any foulness. No crop is more generous in its return for care bestowed on it than flax; we should be particular in doing everything connected with it well. When not intended for laying down, but to be followed by fall wheat, it will be off the ground in time for that purpose, as it occupies the least time of any crop in coming to maturity. As flax requires but a very slight covering, all unevenness in the ground should be removed by the harrow, and if the weather has been previously dry, rolling before sowing will pulverize the small lumps, and tend much to have an even and productive crop.

Holland seed is the best for clayey soils, and Riga for loose, friable soils. About seven pecks to the acre is the proper quantity, and should be sown broadcast. When the plants have attained to a hight of six or eight inches, they should be weeded by hand. They will then require no further care until the time of pulling.—Scientific American.

From the Oregon Farmer.

The Future Price of Wool.

It is but reasonable to suppose that for some years to come wool will command a higher price than it has for the last few years. The heretofore steady and uninterrupted supply of cotton, has now to a great extent ceased. The cotton growing States are engaged in a struggle which must, for some time, affect very seriously the supply of cotton. Not so much from the fact that they exhibit an unalterable determination to commit the crops, already gathered, to the flames wherever their ports are opened and the blockade raised, as from the fact that they are diverting the labor heretofore employed in its culture to the raising of other commodities. Having ceased intercourse with the North, where they have been accustomed to look for the great part of their supplies of grain, they are now by necessity compelled to devote the labor of their slaves to the culture of corn and wheat, instead of cotton.

The inevitable consequence of this will not only be the enhanced price of cotton, but also of wool. There is now no reasonable prospect that the cotton crop of 1861 will find its way to market for some time to come, and this, taken in consideration with the fact that the crop of this year will be very materially less than any for a long time past, forces the conclusion that the price of wool must advance.

The demand for clothing is a constantly increasing one; the tens of thousands of men now in the field wear and destroy a great deal more clothing than they would in their previous avocations, and when this war is over, they will resume their civil instead of their military dress, which will create an extraordinary demand for clothing material, some of which has heretofore been of cotton—on account of cheapness—but which will hereafter be of wool, which will cause both an increased supply and an enhanced price.

Evidence of Loyalty.—Judge Breckinridge of Missouri—a Bell-Everett Unionist, and a member of the convention recently had occasion to remark, in addressing that body:

I think I may say that, without any opinion on this subject that would justify the charge, there is not to be found in the State of Missouri a single man of marked loyalty who has not already been denounced as an Abolitionist, when, in point of fact, he is as far removed from them as he is in thought and sympathy from those who prefer the charge. This charge has been so often and so flippantly made, that I have come to consider it as, perhaps, the most unfailing test of a man's loyalty, that he has been denounced as an Abolitionist. That man who has been so successful in tempering his loyalty throughout this struggle as to avoid incurring the hostility of the class engaged in treason, and their sympathisers, to such an extent as not to incur the application of that epithet, I will not say he is not loyal, but I will say his loyalty has, in all probability, not borne any very distinguished fruits.

About Dinners.—Would you eat healthful dinners? Eat slowly. Would you eat social dinners? Eat slowly? Would you eat a relishable dinner? Eat slowly. Please suffer a short word of exhortation—Eat slowly.
